Relationships & Services

Q: What investment services and advice can you provide me?

A: We offer customized investment advisory and financial planning services to retail investors. We offer advice on a full suite of securities described in Item 8 of our Form ADV Part 2A (“Disclosure Brochure”), including equities, fixed income, mutual funds, ETFs, options, and similar investments. Our services are generally provided on a discretionary basis, which means that we have the power to buy and sell securities for your account without your prior consent. This authority is usually unlimited and remains in effect until you revoke it. We may provide non-discretionary investment advice, where we make investment recommendations to you and you decide whether to implement the recommendation. We do not give advice on any proprietary investment products.

We usually review portfolios at least annually. However, we do monitor accounts on a continuous basis and conduct ad hoc reviews if you change your objectives or risk tolerance, upon significant market and economic events, or if we change our investment strategy.

Sentinus requires a minimum account size of $100,000; however, we may choose to waive this requirement.

Q: Given my financial situation, should I choose an investment advisory service? Why or why not?

A: Advisory services are usually appropriate when you have a portfolio of securities for which you require ongoing advice. Investors who maintain few securities holdings and are not inclined to make changes to their portfolio are likely best suited for a traditional brokerage account with a FINRA-registered firm.

Q: How will you choose investments to recommend to me?

A: We recommend investments based upon your individual circumstances, financial situation, expectation of current and future cash needs, investment objective, and risk tolerance. In addition, we attempt to identify those investments in which we expect to yield an acceptable level of return given the amount of risk you are willing to assume, taking into account the level of diversification and how different securities and asset classes may complement one another.

Q: What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education, and other qualifications?

A: Our financial advisors have been in the financial services industry for several years and maintain the Series 65 exam qualification or a professional designation accepted by the applicable state regulator. You can find information on any professional designations of your financial advisor in the Form ADV Part 2B (“Brochure Supplement”) we provide you at the onset of the advisory relationship.

Q: What do these qualifications mean?

A: These qualifications assure that our professionals have met specific regulatory exam requirements required to conduct investment activities (e.g., Series 65). In addition, professional certifications such as the CFP® require successful passing of the certification exam as well as rigorous continuing education requirements.

Fees, Costs, Conflicts & Standard of Conduct

Q: What fees will I pay?

A: Our fees are assessed on a monthly or quarterly basis and are calculated as a percentage of the assets under our management, so our fees will rise and fall with the value of the assets we manage for you. As a result, we are economically incented to recommend that you place more assets in your account in order to increase the value of your portfolio, because as the value increases, so do our fees.

In addition to our fees, you will be charged transaction or asset-based fees by your custodian for its services. These fees vary depending on the custodian. Under a transaction fee arrangement, the more transactions effected in your account, the more fees you will pay, and high activity in your account does not assure positive portfolio performance. For custodians that charge their fees based upon a percentage of your assets, such fees may be more than would be the case if you are charged a transaction-based fee. Please be mindful of the effect of your portfolio size, the level of activity, and the rate of custodian asset-based pricing. Generally, large portfolios would be disadvantaged by paying an asset-based custodian fee versus a transaction-based fee. Some securities carry additional costs, such as mutual funds and ETFs. In addition to advisory and transaction fees, there are additional fees such as postage and handling, transfer taxes, SEC fees for sales of securities, and similar fees. These additional fees are not material, but like advisory fees and custodian fees, they do have an adverse impact on the value of your portfolio over time. Financial planning fees will be charged at an hourly or fixed rate as agreed upon by you and the firm. You can find more information about our fees and costs under Item 5 of our Disclosure Brochure, available at Investor.gov/CRS.

Q: Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?

A: We charge asset-based fees, so our fees are calculated as a percentage of the value of your portfolio we manage. For example, a $10,000 investment at a 1% annual fee results in an annual deduction of $100 from your portfolio (meaning only $9,900 ends up invested). This means that it will take longer for you to realize positive returns than if no fees were charged. In this example, if you generated a 3% return, your net return would be 2%. Assuming nothing changes, it could take 18 months to realize a $300 return on your $10,000 investment.

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

Q: What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

A: When we act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interests ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts of interest. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts, because they can affect the investment advice we provide. Here is an example to help you understand what this means:

- Certain Sentinus professionals are associated with our affiliate investment adviser, Premise Capital, LLC, and registered with our affiliate broker-dealer, Sentinus-Halo Securities, LLC. Also, we have professionals licensed to sell insurance. These create conflicts of interest regarding compensation.

Q: How might your conflicts of interest affect me, and how will you address them?

A: Conflicts of interest can incentivize us to put our interests ahead of yours. We manage these conflicts through disclosures and employing supervision procedures to ensure our financial advisors are acting in your best interest. If a financial advisor has outside business activities, it will be disclosed in their Brochure Supplement. Please see Items 10, 11, and 14 of our Disclosure Brochure as well as your financial advisor's Brochure Supplement for additional information about conflicts of interest.

Q: How do your financial professionals make money?

A: Our financial advisors are paid a percentage of the fees we collect from you. As a result, we are incentivized to recommend that you add additional assets to your account.

Introduction

We are Sentinus-Halo Securities, LLC (“S-H Securities”), a FINRA-registered broker-dealer. Brokerage services and fees differ, and it is important for you to understand the differences.

Free and simple tools are available to research firms and financial professionals at Investor.gov/CRS, which also provides educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing. Our firm and financial professionals’ registration information are also publicly available on the Investor.gov website.

Relationships & Services

Q: What investment services and advice can you provide me?

A: We offer brokerage services to retail clients and to a variety of corporate and legal entities such as trusts, IRAs, partnerships, and small companies. Through our clearing firm we assist you in opening the right type of account for your needs, assist in transmitting signed paperwork to our clearing firm, and assist with money movement activity and related requests (i.e., requesting checks drawn on your account, transmitting wires, establishing ACH privileges).

Our services are non-discretionary in nature and do not involve us taking any discretion on the purchase or sale of securities. We offer advice on a full suite of securities, including equities, fixed income, options, annuities, real estate investment trusts (“REITs”), structured notes, and private placements.

We are incentivized to utilize mutual funds that carry 12b-1 fees, as this represents additional compensation to us. You do not pay transaction costs but receive an overall net return that is lower by the amount of the 12b-1 fee.

Q: Given my financial situation, should I choose a brokerage service? Why or why not?

A: Our investment advice is for those investors who do not require continuous portfolio supervision. Our recommendations are based upon your financial circumstances, income, net worth, investable assets, investment objectives, and tolerance for risk. Our business is transaction oriented and our compensation is the commission we earn on each transaction. As a result, we are economically incentivized to effect a higher number of transactions for you.

Q: How will you choose investments to recommend to me?

A: We choose investments that are in your best interest given your investment preferences, financial circumstances, income, net worth, investable assets, investment objectives, and tolerance for risk. Generally, we do not provide ongoing portfolio monitoring, but we do monitor options positions, as they require periodic rolling over to a new expiration month, or the options get assigned and we must take further actions.

Q: What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education, and other qualifications?

A: Our financial professionals have been in the financial services industry for several years and maintain the Series 7 and Series 63 exam qualifications. Certain supervisory professionals also maintain applicable FINRA supervisory licenses, such as the Series 24, 27, or 28 exam qualification. You can find information on any professional designations of your financial professional by accessing FINRA.org and utilizing the BrokerCheck functionality.

Q: What do these qualifications mean?

A: These qualifications assure that our professionals have met specific regulatory exam requirements and continuing education requirements to conduct securities activities.

Fees, Costs, Conflicts & Standard of Conduct

Q: What fees will I pay?

A: Our fees for securities transactions are commission based so that we only generate revenue when you effect a securities transaction. Commissions may vary depending on the type of security and the amount and price of the security. In addition to paying commissions, there are separate charges for establishing and maintaining IRA accounts. If you trade on margin, we earn a portion of the margin interest charged your account. If you keep uninvested cash in your account, we earn a portion of the interest that is credited to your account (interest on free credit balance). In addition, there are postage and handling fees, SEC fees, transfer tax fees, and similar fees on a per transaction basis. Also, you may be assessed inactivity fees should your account be dormant for some period of time.

Q: Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $100,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?

A: Commissions are added to your purchase transactions or subtracted from your sales proceeds on a per transaction basis. This results in an economic incentive to have you trade more frequently. The more you trade, the higher your costs, which will adversely impact your gains or losses, as applicable. In addition, certain types of securities transactions such as private placements, REITs, and other illiquid securities generally carry a much higher commission cost than publicly traded securities. In addition, you should be mindful of minimum commission amounts on a per trade basis. Trades for low dollar amounts could cause you to pay an excessive amount of commission relative to the total cost of the securities you are transacting.

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying. You are encouraged to speak with your financial representative to understand the costs involved in trading securities.

Q: What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my broker-dealer? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

A: When we act as your broker, we must act in your best interest and not put our interests ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts of interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice we provide. Here are examples to help you understand what this means:

- Commissions create an incentive for us to recommend that you trade more frequently, which may be contrary to your interests. Please be mindful of the impact of trade frequency and commission costs on your portfolio and the adverse impacts frequent trading can have on your portfolio returns.
- S-H Securities has an investment adviser affiliate, Sentinus, LLC. We may recommend either a brokerage account or an advisory account to you. You should consider the size of your portfolio, the number of securities, whether or not you want ongoing supervision of the portfolio, and the expected level of transaction activity before deciding on brokerage versus investment advisory. Please consult with your financial advisor and carefully review this client relationship summary and the public disclosure site at Investor.gov/CRS. please see Items 10, 11, and 14 of our affiliate's ADV Part 2A Brochure as well as your financial advisor's Part 2B Brochure Supplement for additional information about conflicts of interest.

Q: How might your conflicts of interest affect me, and how will you address them?

A: Conflicts of interest can incentivize us to put our interests ahead of yours. We manage these conflicts through disclosures in this Form CRS, as well as product-specific disclosures (i.e., mutual funds, ETFs, private placements, REITs, and other illiquid securities). In addition, we employ supervisory procedures to ensure our financial professionals are acting in your best interest.

Q: How do your financial professionals make money?

A: Our financial professionals are paid a percentage of the total commission generated from their client accounts. The payment of commissions reduces your rate of return or increases your loss on securities transactions,
